THE PROGRAMME OF LIFE. BY T. C. HARBAUGH.

We sleep in the cradle to mother's soft song, Beyond us the world and its busiest throng; With a kiss on our brows that is holy and true, We look into eyes that are pure as the dew; No cares to annoy and no sorrows to sear The bliss that belongs to life's earliest year, We pass through its morning, sans trouble and strife, and end the first act on the programme of life."

Then Youth with its sunshine and flowers that ope. So carefully tended and guarded by Hope, With Love leading on to the portals of blis We are thrilled and enraptured by Cupid's first kiss No clouds in the sky that is tender and fair, But zephyrs untainted perfuming the air, For the heart that is young is with happiness rife In the bright second act on the programme of life

In the noonday of life there're clouds in the blue And shadow and sun mingle all the way through; If the brightness has fled should we ever complain Remember that sunshine comes after the rain; In the meadows of life there are roses that fade. And wreaths on the biers of lost pleasures are laid With childhood and youth far away from the strife We live the third act on the programme of life.

We sit in the twilight that sheds its soft glow, and the zephyrs at dusk through our thin tresse blow; The shadows may fall, but we heed them no more, For our barks have been launched for the further most shore; With Love as our pilot straight onward we steer, And kisses come swiftly our voyage to cheer Afar from the din of the world and its strife, We end the last act on the programme of life

DEAF AND DUMB.

BY W. L. ALDEN.

At the age of thirty-five I already enjoyed a large surgical practice in London, and had long applied myself so assiduously to my profession that I felt the need of a rest. So I finally resolved to take a vacation, a part of which at least I would spend at Green Court, the country seat of an old chum of mine, and who, indeed, had written me most pressingly to visit him.

the day that I took the train to Greenwood, which was the nearest station to Green Court, I was feeling particularly wretched. This fact, added to my dislike of traveling fellow passengers, gave me suddenly the idea of pretending to be deaf and dumb during the trip. In this way I would force them to let me alone.

Fortunately, I found the first class compartment I entered empty; but my joy was short lived, for, at the very last moment, just when the train had begun to move slowly, a breathless female flew into the compartment. I concealed my displeasure behind my newspaper, and gave myself the air of being absorbed in its perusal.

My unwelcome traveling companion was a stou lady, of rather good appearance, close to forty, I judged. The flery heat of the sun, and the excite nent caused by her efforts not to miss the train had lent her countenance a blooming aspect, and l read in her eyes the wish to give vent to her feel-ings about the intolerable heat and the sleepiness of the hackney coachman, and I instantly found solace in the fact that I was deaf and dum "Please excuse me, sir, can you tell me the time The stupid hackney coachman must have taken a whole hour to drive from Soho Square. The man must have been ---

But here I cut my companion short by making a sign that I was deaf and dumb.

'Oh, really, what a pity!" she said. "Excuse me!

and lapsed into silence.
At Everwold Station a second lady got in, a young girl, who was evidently expected by my companion No. 1, for the station had scarcely come in sight when she waved her handkerchief out of the window until she had excited the attention of the pretty young girl, who was about twenty years old.

The two ladies kissed each other, and thereupon at first in a whisper, in order not to be underst by the strange fellow passenger opposite, but the elder lady quieted her on this point.
"Oh, you needn't mind him, Maude," she said.

"he's deaf as a post, and dumb besides. So we can do just as if we were at home."

The young girl looked at me somewhat doubtilly, and then the conversation was continued. The next stopping place was Harsdale. The two ladies had already talked about things, which they certainly would not have discussed in the presence of a stranger capable of understanding them. Who could know what disclosures would follow next I found myself in the unpleasant position of an involuntary listener, without the possibility of with drawing from the scene. If I gave the ladies to inderstand that I heard every word they uttered what would they think of me and my feigned deaf ss and dumbness? Then only two things would be possible. I would be taken for either a harm less lunatic, or a new sort of criminal, and neithe of the two situations appeared to me particularly flattering or desirable. And, moreover, the youn girl had such faultless manners, and looked s fresh and charming that, for this reason alone, could not have succeeded in saying: "Ladies, I am not deaf and dumb, it was only a comedy on my part, and I have heard every word spoken by you. No, no, that would not do No, no, that would not do in any case; so, as the matter now stood, nothing remained for me but to be absorbed in my paper, in order to understand as little as possible of the conversation. With this resolution I squeezed myself in a corner. Sudden ly my attention was roused by the elder of the two ladies mentioning my name.

' she said, "I had to go home, becaus my husband has invited the old simpleton. Dr. Hub-bard, to pay us a visit, and, as a matter of course. be away when a visitor comes.

But, aunt, how can you call Dr. Hubbard an old simpleton, since you have never seen him? 'Oh, I understand myself as regards my hus band's tastes. If he purposely set himself the task to discover the most tiresome men, so as to make life a burden to me, he could not do differently."

"Is he young, or old?"
"I really don't know. Only one thing I do know;

he's single."

"Well, I like tiresome men, and always interest myself in the kind that no one likes. What will you give me, auntie, if I take him entirely off your ands while he stops at Green Court?"

"Well, I can only tell you that you would do me a very great favor, dear," replied the aunt. "Who knows how long the man will stay? I am convinced he is one of that sort of men who stick fast every-where, like burrs, and never know when they are in the way."

think so. Mande ?"

I could not understand the niece's answer to this compliment. After another quick side glance at me, the worthy lady continued with the greatest "Really, the expression of his face has sometoing crafty-a genuine rascal's face-a pickpocket's!"

Truly, things were taking a better and better turn! That Hubbard, whom Mrs. Harcourt had not yet seen, was a simpleton, an unbearable, tire-some man, I knew already; and now it was made clear to me that she looked upon Hubbard, whom she had seen, as a cunning rascal and thief! Now, fortunately we were approaching Harsdale, and that you may make your complaint in due form."

any case he is too deplorably homely. Don't you gold and banknotes, and my railroad ticket be-

"What have you to say to that?" said the officer to me, sharply.

"Simply that it isn't true," I replied. "I know nothing about this lady's purse, and I can easily satisfy you as to my respectability."
"Heavens!" cried Mrs. Harcourt, with astonishment, "the man isn't deaf and dumb at all! Officer, the man gave me to understand by a sign that he was deaf and dumb, and acted as such a person That proves what a consummate swindler he "I must ask you to accompany me to the police station," said the officer. "And you also, madam.

So I actually found myself in the same compartment with the worthy better half of my friend, Harcourt, and his niece, and the former expected my arrival with terror, and regarded me as a troublesome, optruding fellow! What in the world ublesome, optruding fellow! would she say, on arriving at Green Court, and making the discovery that the quiet passenger, whom she had imagined was deaf and dumb, was the unwished for Dr. Hubbard, and that he had heard all the remarks made about him?

Of course, it was now quite impossible for me to go there and disclose my identity. What was to be done? At Harsdale, where we would have to change cars for Greenwood, I would telegraph to Harcourt that an important surgical case had called me back, by telegraph, to London, and so I would be obliged to postpone my visit. But no, that wouldn't do. My trunk, which was in the baggage car, contained a manuscript on the subject vivisection, which I had promised to have in the hands of the publishers of The Surgeon's Monthly, two days hence, and so I could not let my trunk on to Greenwood, while I returned to London. Therefore, I must, at all events, proceed to Green-wood, at the risk of meeting Harcourt at that Meanwhile, I could at least escape from the worthy Mrs. Harcourt and her co getting in another compartment at Harsdale. would arrive there in an hour, and until then there bear the fatal was nothing for me to do but to ituation with good humor and dignity.

The two ladies continued their conversarion, for-tunately without concerning themselves further humble self. Once Mrs. Harcourt approached the window, where I sat, to call he niece's attention to something, and the shaking of the train threw her almost into my lap.

"The poor fellow was quite frightened!" said the niece. "He seemed afraid you would sit on him!" Seems to be very timid. I can't say his face

then I would escape my tormentors

After a little while the elder lady began to fumble nervously in her garments, and presently she cried out, with a look of consternation

Oh, my child, my purse is missing !" "Perhaps you put it in your satchel," suggested

The lady searched in that receptacle, but in vain "It's gone!" she exclaimed, finally, "together with wenty pounds and my railroad ticket, and I am certain this man there stuck his long fingers in my pocket while I looked out of the window.

He cannot possibly have done that, Aunt; I observed him the whole time, and he did not move. "My dear girl, do you really think you are shrewd and experienced enough to follow the manipulations of a professional pickpocket? The man has got my purse, that is certain, and I shall have him arrested when we arrive at Harsdale." It was evident that I must leave the train as uickly as possible, so soon as we reached Haradale, before an uproar occurred, and a station po liceman was called. The motion of the train grey slower, and I hastily seized my traveling pouch and umbrella, and took a step towards the door.

"Oh, yes, you would like to do that" cried Mrs. arcourt, effectively blocking up my way, by leaning the whole upper part of her stout body out o the window.

I saw at once that my intention was frustrated. and gave up my game as lost. As a matter of course I could not push a lady aside, and in no case would she allow me to escape elsewhere than into the arms of a police officer. So I seated myself again with the calmness of despair, and awaited the servant of the law, whom Mrs. Harcourt had summoned, by violent gesticulations and loud cries

"This man has stolen my purse," said the lady, pointing her finger at me, as the policeman opened the door of the compartment. "Search him, and strikes me favorably. People afflicted with his in-firmity are generally singularly given to anger. In the initials, E. H., and contains twenty pounds in

I stood up to obey this order. Near the do my foot struck against something hard. I stooped and picked it up—it was the missing purse!

"Is that your purse, madam?" I asked, holding up the object I had found. "You must have ropped it when you looked out of the window."
"Oh, of course!" said the policeman, scornfully Who would suppose that you would have don that yourself when you saw your game was up Come along, such tricks don't catch me!"

"Wait a moment," said the niece. "Aunt, I am sure that you let the purse fall when you went the window. I remember now that you had it in your hand, and it was your left hand. The man ild not possibly have touched it."

"Are you sure of that, miss?" asked the officer. "Positively sure. The man is entirely innocent and so, of course, you can no longer think of arrest ing him. Aunt, do tell the officer that it is a mis take. Only think how cruel it is to make such a charge, if it proves afterwards to be unfounded. Mrs. Harcourt opened her purse and found its "I fear now, myself, there's some mistake

'Then you withdraw your charge " asked the officer, laconically,

"Entirely," replied the niece. "We are very sorry for having troubled you." Then, turning to me, she added: "And we are inexpressibly sorry for having caused you so much unpleasantness. Unpleasantness did not seem to me to cover fully the idea of what I felt, if I took all the circuit stances into consideration. I was, however, so glad at my escape and the way in which the brave little niece had intervened for me, that I believe I was altogether in earnest when I replied that the matter was of no consequence whatever.

"Why did he pretend to be deaf and dumb?" said Mrs. Harcourt, still irreconcilable.

"I shouldn't advise him to repeat the game," said the policeman, sententiously, moving away.

I then made haste to get into a third class com partment of the train going to Greenwood, and composed myself for the contingency of meeting my old chum, Harcourt, at that station. One thin I knew-in case he espied me, there was no way ut. He would either drag me forcibly away with him, or compel me to tell him, minutely, the whole occurrence. He was one of those stubborn men who do not content themselves with half explana tions, and do not rest till they have searched to the bottom of all the details of a doubtful case, and I knew beforehand that he would not be satisfied with my assurance that I was called back to London on account of pressing professional business And to his house 1 certainly could not think of going—to run the gauntlet—no, indeed! To meet hi batter half, after she had called me a tiresome man, a simpleton, a crafty rascal, would have been bad enough in itself, but to meet her after she had complained of me as a pickpocket, that was more than even the bravest of us would have wished to under-take. If I only escaped Harcourt's attention, and, nnseen by him, could succeed in getting away from the train, then all would be well. I would then feel only the one regret, that I had not been per-mitted to duly thank the lovely girl who had prevented my arrest, and so courageously taken my part.

When we rolled into Harsdale station I caught sight of Harcourt, even before the train came to a standstill, on the platform. He, however, did not discover me, as I had carefully concealed my face behind the window curtain. I followed him with my eyes, and waited till he had turned his back to me, and then, with my slouched hat pulled down over my eyes and my coat collar turned up, I sprang out of the compartment, and ran to the third and fourth class waiting room, where I placed myself before the buffet, with my back to the door, and began, with a true disdain for death, to eat hot sausages, convinced that, in this role, I would be completely unrecognizable for everybody.

In this safe harbor I concealed myself for a full quarter of an hour, and consumed enough of these delicacies to ruin my digestion for the rest of my life. Then, satisfied that the coast was clear, I stepped out on the platform and ran—straight into the arms of my friend Harcourt, who was waiting for the next train, supposing that I had missed the connection with this one.

"My dear fellow, here you are at last! Where in the world were you?"

I murmured something about a telegram I had just received, and which called me back to London without delay; and then, when I saw that Harcourt was quite speechless with astonishment at my ex-planation. I collected myself and explained that it was an exceedingly important surgical case that had suddenly come up in my clinic, and that I must go back at once.

"Hubbard!" cried, my friend, looking at me
"Hubbard!" cried, my friend, something's sharply, "your face belies your words. Something's the matter with you! What has really happened? Where's this wonderful telegram? Show it to me

What reply I would have made to this, I know not, for a new misfortune befell me. The niece had made her appearance again, and looked with wonder, first at me and then at her uncle. Then, suddenly comprehending the situation, she broke out out into an uncontrollable laugh.

In all probability, never since the beginning of the world had a laugh worked so contagiously and irresistibly, and the twinkling of the charming girl's roguish eyes would undoubtedly have drawn a burst of mirth from the flercest misanthropist. I could not help myself; the next moment I joined in the young girl's laugh with a roar, while Har-court stared at both of us, his face strangely anxious.

The niece was the first to recover her speech "Uncle." she said, "a mistake has happened, which might have proved terrible, were not Dr. Hubbard so good natured, and had he not found out the amusing side of the matter. Aunt has driven home; she couldn't wait any longer. I pro pose that we follow her on foot, and on the way you shall learn all about the affair."

I hesitated a moment, and then I said to myself: 'I would rather meet fifty aunts than take lea this lovely girl before I had convinced her that I am not simple and awkward, and that at times I

And not only did I go to Green Court and greet the confounded and repentant aunt, but I spent a ful and unconditional fortnight there. Indeed, more yet: I convinced the aunt that I combined a spirit of my own with my simplicity, and induced er to let Maude promise to be my wife

CAROLINE HULL

Was born of Virginia parentage and began her stage career at the age of six years, playing child's parts in dramas and operas and singing in concerts Her musical talents were developed under the bes instructors, and when quite young she began singing responsible roles in operas. Her stage career has included some dramatic experiences, and her success in the vaudevilles, of late, has been of the most gratifying sort. Her vaudeville debut was made at Keith's Union Square Theatre, Feb. 24, 1896, and she has since that time played successful engagements in all the prominent variety theatres in the East and West. Her specialty of triple voiced vocalism, which she originated, is unique and her work, which is invariably painstaking and careful, has made her a general favorite.

"Little Lord Fauntleroy" Revived in Boston—"A Midsummer Night's Dream" Given Al Fresco, in St. Louis.

[Special Dispatches to The New York Clipper.]

Bostros, Aug. 10.—The popularity of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" was fully attested yesterday afternoon and evening, when audiences that fairly taxed the capacity of the house filled the Castle Square Theatre. The performances of this charming play were certainly among the finest that have ever been given in this city.... At Keith's New Theatre business, as usual, was flourishing day and evening.... At the Palace Theatre the attendance was large... Austin & Stone's Museum was packed during the day and night.... Business at the Chutes was of the regular rushing order... Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show began its second and last week at Charles River Park with crowds that jammed the place at every performance.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—The openings were none of them remarkable in any way. There was a fair house at the Great Northern, where "Martha" was put on... Although the attendance at Hooley's dropped somewhat during the latter part of "Never Again" run, the last week started in with a boom. There will be an extra mid-week matinee II... "Trilby" continues to be popular at Hopkins".... A moderate house greeted "His Freuch Doll" at Clifford's Galety.... At the Masonic Temple Garden the week opened propitiously from a box office standpoint, Josephine Sabel and Mary Norman being the cards..... The Lincoln opened to one of the biggest houses it ever had at an opening. "South Before the War" being the play.... The Olympic and Haymarket each did a good business.

St. Louis, Aug. 10.—The most ambilious open air dramatic production ever attempted here was larger attendance.

Louisviller, Aug. 10.—A big audience assembled at Phenix Hill Park last night to see a good vaudeville bill. Dixon, Bowers and Dixon caught the crowd and made a hit.

MARYLAND.

Baltimore.—The first of the local theatres to open for the season of 1897-98, was Kernan's Monumental, which, after a thorough renovation, threw open its doors Aug. 9, with the Bon Ton Burlesquers as the initial attraction, producing two up to date burlesques. The Matrimonial Bureau" and "Vassar Girls in Camp." A good sized audience was in attendance. The White Crook Burlesque Co. is underlined for 16.

ELECTRIC PARK.—Belle Hathaway's troupe of dogs, baboons and monkeys, Johnson, Riano and Bentley, Marie Stuart, Ed. Latelle, Cook and Sonora, the Seymours and Daisy Ogden, constitute the bill for the current week. Business continues large.

Albaugh Jr. has secured the following members for his Lyceum Theatre Stock Co., which will open its season Sept. 27: William Harcourt, Jennie Kennark, Leonora Bradley, Adele Black, Margaret May, Butler Davenport and Scott Cooper. Percy Winler will manage the stage. The repertory will be an extensive one.... At the biennial convention of the Theatrical Mechanics recently held in this city the following officers were elected for the ensuing two years: D. Frank Dodge, of San Francisco, past grand president; E. C. Harris, of New York, grand president; G. Baker, of Portland, Ore, grand vice president; dent; E. C. Harris, of New York, grand president; U. Baker, of Portland, Ore., grand vice president; W. H. Reed, of Newark, N. J., grand secretary; Otto B. Goebel, of Mitwaukee, grand treasurer; Wm. Mueller, of Washington, D. C., grand marshal, and Wm. Taunton.—At Dighton Rock Park Mackie and Walker, Griffin and Cowper and John J. Fenton came week of Ang. 2. Hoy's American Concert Co., John J. Hall and Wm. Creas come week of 9. SABRATIA PARK.—Monsulla and Russell, Alice Fitzgibbon, Ed. Bryant and Murray and McCoy week of Aug. 2. Marlow and Plunket, Harry La Marr, Irving Walton and Willie Lincoln will entertain week of 9.

There is a possibility that the old Music Hall will open its doors again the coming season. Manager White says he has had numerous applications from outside parties to lease it, but as yet he is undecided what he will do.

— J. II. Margarvie, manager of the Sait Lake Grand Opera House, arrived in this city 7.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago.—This is the interim between the Summer and Winter seasons, and there is a bull in affairs theatrical. Only two regular, two vaudeville, two burlesque and Hopkins', of the down town houses, are open. Some of the lesser openings occur Ang. S, while plans for the others are in full swing. The business has been light, especially when one considers the fact that it is so much concentrated. There is a general apsilty and a lack of novelites, but the announcements hold out promise that this condition will soon be over with. One noteworthy change has been made in the times of the openings. The Columbia will throw wide its doors two weeks earlier than was originally intended. "My Friend from India," with May Vokes and Frederick Bond in the cast, goes on 22 for a two weeks' run ahead of "Jack and the Beanstalk." Manager Will J. Davis announces that the policy of the house will lean very much to music this season. The serious vein and drama will have its turn now and then, but the preponderance of the bookings are of the musical order. For the current week, there is "Martina" by the stock at the Great Northern, the last week of "Never Again" at Hooley's, vandeville at the Olympic, Haymarket and Masonic Temple Garden; "His French Doll" at the Galety, and "Triby" at Hopkins'. The last named attraction has carried off the banner for business during the past week—so much so that the usual rule of one new play a week has been suspended. The Lincoin has opened up with "South Before the War," and the outlying houses are beginning to fall in line.

Hooley's Theatrie.—As the end of the run of "Never Again" has been drawing near, the attendance has been dropping off somewhat. The performance itself, however, remains at a high standard, houses are beginning to fall in line.

Hookey's Theatrie.—As the end of the run of "The Mayflower."

HOPKINS' THEATRE.—The box office receipts have roles.

Hopkins' Thratre.—The box office receipts have shown that the stock has pleased the public with its production of "Trilby." Maurice Freeman and May Hosmer are the features. The specialty bill includes Caron and Herbert, Leola Mitchell, the Nicholis Sisters, Gilbert Girard, Dolly Davenport and the cinematographe.

Masonic Temple Garden.—The two headliners on last week's bill—Josephine Sabel and Mary Norman—remain for another week. The rest of the bill is made up of Cushman and Holcomice, the Deltorellis, Mile. Vetter, Polk and Kollins, the Engstrom Sisters, Smith and Cook, Chris and Maud Lane and the cinematographe.

Olympic Theatrie.—Only fair business has been the rule in spite of the fact that the Chicago Opera House is closed for repairs. Emily Metville, of comic opera fame, is put at the top of the current bill. Titenia dances, and the Romaio Brothers do their balancing act. Clayton Jennings and Jasper put on a sketch, entitled "An Amateur Circus." Others on the bill are: Adams and Taylor, Foy and Clark, Howard's ponies, Steve Jennings, Le Claire and Hayes. Sheridan and Sheridan, Edmund Sautaro, the Eldridges, William Rosarie, and Baker and Earnhart.

Haymarkst Theatre.—Wills and Loretto move taro, the Eldridges, William Rosarie, and Bak and Earnhart.

HAYMARKET THEATRE.—Wills and Loretto move over from the Olympia, and come first in the list with their sketch. Burke and Andrus are a close second. The rest are Irene Franklin, Joseph Doner and Mordicae, Joseph Natus, the Glockers, Signor Mandola, the Clark Sisters, Boyd and Allen, Val Yousden, Emery and Russell, Tom Doyle, the Mannings, and Hettie Kenton.

ings, and liettle Kenion.

Sam. T. Jack''s Offrra Housr.—"Klondyke." the gold hunters' buriesque, has proved to be a go, and will run for at least one more week. A good specially bill helps to amuse the crowds.

Ferris Wherl Park.—This is week number eleven of the Park's season, and Mannger Prior is not complaining. The Farrells remain for another week, and top the bill. Other attractions are: Bickwell, clay modeler; the Abbions, Harry Pink, the Lazards, Irené Verona, Stella Mack, Claudia West, Fielding, the Magnets and Pascatel.

CLIFFORD'S GAIRTY.—The new burlesque, "His French Doll," opens for a week s. In the cast are Madeline Shirley, Edwina, "the sensation;" Marie Marlow, Carrie Seitz, Charles Clark, Bert C. Weston, W. C. Kreusch, Leo Peasley and Joste Welcome. The policy of the house will then be changed to combination, burlesque prevailing. The first secured is "Moulin Rouge."

Lincola Theatrek.—The preliminary season opens 8 with "South Before the War," including bands, pickaninnies, and all other features. The cinematographe will be seen between the acts.

Alhambra Theatre.—Two performances were held s of Richards & Pringle's Georgias, in conjunction with Rusco & Holland's Minstrels, which organization includes Billy Kersands. The regular season opens 14, with Lincoln J. Carter's "Heart of Chicago."

CLARK STREET MUSEUM.—The new attractions are: Ell Bowen, legless acrobat; Maggie, midgel.

Chicago."

CLARK STREET MUSEUM.—The new attractions are: Ell Bowen, legless acrobat; Maggie, midget, and her daughter; Collins, magician; the Lynches, pantomimists, and Mile. Zuleila with her trained canaries. Jukes, glass blower; the swimming beauty show, the Midway dancers, and the magniscope remain.

Quincy.—At Baldwin Park Thea' e the attendance the past week has been exceedingly large, the S. R. O. sign being displayed on several nights. This week's people: Dyer and Howard. Sisters Esher, Lottle Thorne, Gray and Williams, Rose Bros., Wm. Schied, H. Daly... Bert Marshall and wife left 7 for Mexico, Mo., to fill a two weeks' engagement.

WALTER L. MAIN'S CIRCUS NOTES .- Our Oregon walter L. Main's Circus Notes.—Just Ovegon business anded Aug. 2, when we began our sixteenth week of the season. On 3 we entered California, and for the next two months we will be bear the "Golden Gate." The weather is fine. People with the show are now enjoying good health and everything is in first class shape for our tour of the Pacific Coast. Manager Main is now in San Francisco with our advance brigades. Mr. Stowe is in full control, and, with such an able manager and competent corps of assistant's it is not assistant on the orderly manner did not seen in the show is conducted. Description of the big canvas, the parade goes out on time each day and the big doors open at one. At Walla Walla, Wash. Manager Stowe was visited by a sister he had not seen in twenty six years. She lives on a farm near Walla Walla. At vancouver, B. THE POTTERS AND GAMORA, aerialists, have re-turned from a successful engagement at the Winni-peg, Manitoba, Exposition.

WELSH BROS.' NEWS NOTES.—The "Newest Great"

The Potters and Gamora, aerialists, have returned from a successful engagement at the Winniper, Manitoba, Exposition.

Welsh Bros.' New Stotes.—The "Newest Great" has just concluded a most prosperous tour of New York State, and, with one or two exceptions, every stand found our big show top comfortably filled at every exhibition. In the towns of Eimira, Corning, Hornelsville and Salamanca the S. R. O. sign was displayed at the night shows. The sixteenth week of the present season finds us back into our favorite stamping grounds, the old keystone State, and in the many new towns that we have thus far visited we have been received in a most favorable manner. Robert Scanton, our singing clown, who has been on the sick list for the past week, is rapidly recovering, and will be able to work very shortly. All the rest of our people are enjoying excellent health, and a continued air of good humor reigns supreme throughout our camp and exhibition grounds. The main performance programme is running with the precision of clock like rapidity under the direction of Prof. C. M. Newton, the descriptive orator. Recent visitors to the show were Dan Quinian, of Al. G. Field's Minstreis; Col. C. A. Potter, of Wallace Shows; Prof. Geo. E. Rich, of circus fame; Col. T. A. Edwards, of Oregon Indian Co., and Arthur Sidman and wife, the comedy sketch.

RAYS FROM SUS BROS.' WORLD's PROGRESSIVE SHOWS.—The Hills (Joe and Flora), and Leo and De Varo Joined last week, which are the cnly changes in people since our last letter. Everybody is happy and contented. Wiley Favis Jr., three years of age, is making a hit as singing, talking and knockabout clown. He is idolized by all our people, and is a truly wonderful child. The Son Brothers are already laying plans for the enlargement and improvement of their show next season. Prof. Smith's band has reached a state of perfection. Without a moment's warning the show was struck by a severe cyclone at Adamsville, O., on Aug. 3, snapping all centre poles and leveling every spread of cauvas to the gr for the season.

Ballenger Family Show Notes.—While going into Herold, W. Va., Aug. 5, our ticket wagon upset. McBride and Parento, being on the seat, had a narrow escape. McBride leaped off on the high side, while Parento went down the bank with the Wagon, receiving a painful cut on the head and several bruises. The wagon was badly wrecked, the safe breaking through the roof.

STONE AND PEARL, aerialists, with the Ballenger Family Show, have dissolved partnership and Charles Stone has joined hands with James Warner.

THE DIEFENBACH ORIGINAL 10c. CIRCUS has re organized at Hamilton, O., and is giving a good performance. Business is only fair, but the good times promised may materialize soon from indications received from other companies.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA,

Washing ton.—The supplemental amusement season of '96-' i closed with last week, and for a few weeks to come theatrical items from the Capital City must necessarily be very meagre, only one house being open, and that devoted to variety. The curtains of the Columbia and the National theatres fell with the close of last week, and the Lyceum went up for the first time this season on the same night, which will serve to save the city from an uter dearth of entertainment till the regular Fall season opens. '30 few announcements have as yet been made nor is the order of openings definitely determined upon. The Columbia will probably be the first to open, as it was the last to close, and the present management is to give four weeks of light opera by the Castle Square Opera Co., which was so successful at another syndicate house—the Lafay-ette Square—early in the present Summer season. The National will undergo a complete overhauling, which will probably take till the middle of September to complete, and as it enters the syndicate with this season it will be subject to the will of that body as to its time of opening. The Academy of Music, which also enters the syndicate at the same time as the National, will open Sept. 30. Maude Adams will begin her starring tour at the Lafayette Square 13, with a new play under the Frohman management. The Grand and Bijou, our only houses outside the syndicate, will open their seasons about the last week in the present month. It is understood that the Grand will slightly raise its scale to 7 prices for the coming season, while the Academy of Music will lower its scale to 75c. for the highest priced seats. Several first class attractions are booked for the Grand, notably Minnie Maddern and Francis Wilson, when the prices will be subjected to a slight rise.

METZEROTT & LUCKETT'S COLUMBIA THEATRE.—McDonaugh & Townsend's new comedy, "The Marquis of Michigan," passed its series of trial examinations last week, and, although the patronage was not large, Manager Rosenba act will be entirely rewritten, and the success is assured.

RAPLEY'S NATIONAL THEATRE.—The Frederic Bond Co. closed its second and last week, presenting a double bill, "The Paper Chase" and "A BOX of Monkeys," to fair business only.

KERNAN'S LYCEUM THEATRE.—A grand opening of the season occurred on the last night of last week with a brand new company—Zittella's English Froliques. Zittella, formerly of Flynn & Sheridan's enterprise, has surrounded herself with a splendid array of vaudeville talent and proved conclusively that she is out to stay. The roster includes the following names: Joe Waldron, Sam Ashton and Wm. Moore, the Vaimore Sisters, Harry Tilzer and "Geo. Sydney, the Bijou Comedy Trio, Clarence Wilbur, Henrietta Wheeler and George Breman and a large, shapely chorus. The costuming is elegant and the stage appointments beautiful in the extreme. Ridge Waller is the manager.

GLEN ECHO AMPHITHEATRE.—This unique place is filling a long felt want with our amusement seekers with its excellent vandeville entertainments. Sunday matinee and evening performances, and evening performances all the week attract thousands of seekers for a cool place, liquid and solid refreshments and cheap prices. The Fadelte Orchestra, Bijon Quartette, Rice Brothers, Eugene A. Neidert and T. J. O'Brien are the attractions for the week. The immense auditorium was well filled all last week, and on Wednesday night a complimentary benefit was tendered to Byron G. Harian and Lem Williamson, two Washington favorites, in which a large number of professionals assisted, making a first class entertainment, which was witnessed by large growds.

NUTES.—Grace Shannon made a balloon ascension and parachute jump at fliver View Aug. S, successfully entertaining a very large crowd........
Robert Downing will be managed next season, and for three seasons to come, by W. A. McDonnell, opening his season at the Academy of Music, in this city. His repertory will include a new play by George Ohnet, entitled "David Laroque," and he will open his season with it.

Bridgeport.—At the Park City Theatre the attraction for opening night, which will be about Aug. 23, is as yet unknown, as a choice is to be made from three first class plays. W. L. Rowland, Manager, was placed in this position by Trustee F. F. Staples, and the new owner, Frank Miller. He is a gentleman of push and energy, and thoroughly conversant with the duties of managership, and should be successful in placing this house on the footing of several years ago. Mr. Rowland guarantees that all attractions booked by himself will positively play at the Park City, and, if necessary, will put up a bond of $1,000 to $3,000 to this effect. This is for any of the companies that are booked and are in any doubt as to being able to play, owing to the present condition of affairs.

Reading.—Buffalo Bill's Wild West drew well Aug. 4..... A large business was done at Carsonia Park week of Aug. 2, where the Gonzalez Comic Opera Co. is scoring a great success. Business was on the increase week of 2, at the Casing, with a good vaudeyille bill.

Uaudeville & Minstrel

EUNTH, RUDD AND HARNARD write from Vienna, Aus., under date of July 2s, as follows: "We arrived here this afternoon, preparatory to opening Aug. 1. We were agreeably surprised to find such colossal amusement resorts. The different theatres throughout the vast grounds of the Englisher Gartens all running separate attractions. One with a big ballet of two hundred people, another with Neapolitan singers, another with high class opera singers, while the vaudeville portion is given all fresco, and this can all be seen as low priced as ten cents, while the better class pay fifty cents and even higher. The secret of the scheme is the vast numbers that attend and the tremendous quantity of refreshments that are sold, for with many it is the event of the week, and they come to dine, sup and take in the whole business. There are a number of cafes here that cater for the performers, who make the places a rendevous. They have all theatrical journals on file, and we are given to understand that one place has the old CLIPPER on view.

ESTRILA WILLS has been singing "Sally Warner" for the past three weeks with much success at the Ice Palace.

CURTS' COMEDIANS NOTES.—Business has been exceedingly good, considering the weather. Monday night we opened the new house. Mr. and Mrs. Curts were serenaded by the Hadford Cadet Band, for whose benefit we played on Aug. 2. Geo. Sweet and Florence Vaughn are catching the people with their new songs, while Kingsiey claims that he is the only policeman in the business. We are headed for Minnesota, with a few fair dates in Wisconsin. The roster: M. H. Curts, manager: Gus Sweet, stage manager: Babe Beals, assistant stage manager: D. A. Kingsiey, advance: Fiorence Vaughn, misical director; Little Margie and John Bugus.

THE LORRETTS, entertainers, were at Renwick Beach, Ithaca, N. Y., week of Aug. 2, and this week they are at Allentown, Pa.

Notes from Al. G. Firli's Minstracts.—Rehear sals are progressing smoothly with this company, and indications point to its being the strongest show in the history of the organization. The costumes are of the finest patterns, and manufactured from the most dedicate fabrics; the settings are all complete, and will prove very effective. The company has assembled without one disappointment. All the members have worked faithfully, with the result that we could give a smooth performance tomorrow night if it were necessary. The Cornalis Family have arrived, and are the special feature of the show. Their act is sure to be a winner, as it is wonderful, and a new effort in minartelsy. Billy Van has an entire new specialty, and it is padded with bright and new withcisms, which will keep him in close touch with the legion of friends he has made in the past. One of the real hits of the performance will be the new farce by Mr. Field, entitled "A Trip to the Klondyke Gold Diggings." It describes the folibes and fancies of the fortune hunters. The bookings are of the best, and everything points to a profitable season.

Carroll, Clement and De Vaux, Cirlice Vance; "Chip," midget comedian; Harry Thomson, Tom Ripley, Thomas and Watson, John Weber, Mabel Casedy and Harry Armstrong.

The CHUTER.—Business continues large. The Fall River.—The Academy of Music has undergone a thorough overhausing and renovating during the Winter months, and will appear more comfortable and inviting during the season of 1897-98 than at any during its history. No expense has been spared by Manager Wiley to make the honse as attractive as possible. The loby has been treated to a tinting of much lighter color than it was last season, and the interior has also been touched up to advantage. The scenery, which was practically new last season, has also been repainted. A big improvement has also been made in the aisles. Hereiofore there were steps in going from the lobby down to the orchestra. Those steps have been taken out and a sloping platform made down the aisles. It is Mr. Wiley's intention to make the approaching season the banner one in the history of the house, and to accomplish that end he has booked a list of attractions that are sure to demand a good patronage. "The Electrician" opens Aug. 14-16, "Eight Bells" 18, "A Boy Wanted" 20-21, "McGinty the Sport" 25, Primrose & West's Minstrels 26.

NICKELOBRON MUSER—Business continues good with the Boston Eden Musee Co., and they remain the present week. Billy Baker, Canadian glant, has been added to the list of attractions.

NORRIS BROS." DOG AND PONY SHOW closed a week of good business Aug. 7. The entertainment furnished is highly meritorious and enjoyable to old and young. They well deserved the paironage they received.

Richmond.—At the Academy of Music "Darkest Russia" opens the preliminary season 16, 17.
Al. G. Field's Minstrels follow 24-25. The house is fresh from the hands of the decorators and pre-fresh from the hands of the decorators and presents a neat appearance.

Forest Hill Park.—The vandeville performance continues on the wave of prosperity, and last week, artistically and financially, was the banner one of the season. Neuville and Barlow, in their comedy sketch, "Nerve," were a strong drawing card, and established themselves in an unmistakable manner. Week of 9, Kenvon, equilibrist; Coyne Bros., Mile. Vera, Mabelle Eckert, Ludwig Heck Jr. and Marinella.

Week of 9, Kenvon, equilibrist; Coyne Bros., Mile. Vera, Mabelle Eckert, Ludwig Heck Jr. and Marinella.

Broad Street Park.—In addition to the regular bill last week Jas. J. Corbett was the special feature 7, and the occasion attracted an immense audience. These people will furnish amusement week 9: Mile. Charlotta Lavergne, Vivian Wood, Needham and Jones, Peters and Waiters, Brannock Sisters and Usher and Thomas.

Nores—But for the prompt and heroic action of Will G. Mack. of De Forest and Mack, a sad tragedy would have been recorded at Forest Hill Park last week. Lillian Barlow was returning to her dressing room in a boat after the performance 5, and, when near the landing slipped and fell into deep water. The negro boatman, the only other occupant of the boat, became paralyzed with fear and was powerless to render aid to the unfortunate lady. Her frantic cries, however, brought Mr. Mack to the scene of the accident, and, taking in the situation at a glance, he sprang to the rescue in full stage attire. After a desperate struggle in which he was nearly exchansted, he succeeded in reaching the shore with his fair burden, amid the cheers of the crowd, which had been attracted to the scene. Miss Barlow suffered considerably from nervous shock, but recovered sufficiently to appear the following night little the worse from her terrible experience. In the meantime, jolly and brave Will Mack was the lion of the hour, and his every appearance was a signal for hearty applause.

OUR AUSTRALIAN LETTER.

MRS. BLAND HOLT.

In Australia, "melod-ama" and "Bland Holt" have become couve tible terms. Bland Holt's first excerience as a manager was at the Queen's, in Dublin, in a Shake-spearen's season. Seven years in burlesque in America followed, and he stored considerable success in the States in various extravaganzas. In 1876 he accompanied Annie Pixley to Australia, playing in rantomime and burlesque. It was about this time that "New Babylon" made such a hit at the Duke's Theatre, London, under Mr. Holt Sr., and thence Mr. Holt Jr., sped to join his father's company. He shortly afterwards returned to the Antipodes with "New B-bylon" and "The World," this repertory being subsequently added to by the inclusion of "Taken From Life" and "Puck." This combination was presently disbanded and Mr. Holt returned to England, and toured there for about three years with his sown company, one of the principal members of which was Florence Anderson, now Mrs. Bland Holt. A new series of plays brought the actor manager back again to Australia in 1886, when "A Run of Luck" was the chief draw. The cast included George Rignoid and Mis Kate Bishop. It was to this company that Florence Anderson came out six months after the opening, and entered into a life partnership with the manager. The company thus given birth to in 1886 has gone on continuously ever since, doing the round of the Colonies in regular sequence, and producing as they appear in London sil the Drury Lane and Adelphi successes. Mr. Holt has had many eminent settle under his canurer). OHIO.

OHIO.

Cincinnati.—Early in the week panting humanity sighed for a breath of air, for old Sol's reign was stiding. Within the space of a day all was changed and they who had perspired and feared the fateful heat crawled into their waistcoats. This is the sort of changeable weather that has made the lives of the directors of Summer amusements miserable all the season. It has usually been either too hot or too cool for the reaping of a continual harvest of shekels. Cincinnati is better provided for in the line of Summer resorts than any city of twice its population.

PROPLE'S THEATER.—This gold mine "over the Rhine"—a Klondyke that has ever yielded big yellow nuggets for Hubert Heuck et. al.—is the first o open. Mozart's Merry Widows Buriesque Co. comes Aug. 15.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.—Much gay paper is already on the walls announcing the brief engage mensof Al. G. Field's Minstrels Sept. 4.

CHESTER PARK.—The Boston Lyric Opera Co. commences the second week of its engagement at Park Theatre Aug. 8, when "The Chimes of Normandy" will be presented. "Amorita" was enjoyed by audiences of good size hast week. Brothers Roche and Lamar were seen 8, in gymnastic feats in the arena.

ZOOLOGICAL GARDEN.—Summer opera at the Zoo has been a success. The Mackay Opera Co. opens the current week with a revival of "Girode-Giroda." Last week Ada Paimer Walker added to her admirers by her clever work as Zerlina, in "Fra Diavolo" W. C. Coup's educated horses will open 15, for a three week's engagement.

LUPLOW LAGOON.—Manager Noonan has nursed a new idea into active life. Coupons, good for admission to the park, are printed in the daily sheets. On Post day all records were broken, and next week is carled Times-Star week. Marion Manols, John C. Rice and Salue Cohen, Amelia Glover and the Akimoto Troupe of Japs provide the oilo s. Both Josephine Sabel and Pauline Hall denied the right to act of the agents who had signed them to appear.

of the Fountain Square.

Cleveland.—The past week witnessed the opening of the season of 1897-98 at the Cleveland Theatre and at the same time the ending of the regular Summer season at the Garden Theatre, although the latter will continue a few weeks with a supplementary season.

Halfnorth's Garden Theatre.—The substitution of grand for comic opera during the week of Aug. 2, when "Il Trovatore" was sung, proved an overwhelming success. The new principals were Payne Clark and Ruth White. Both made complete bits and were applanded to the echo. Carrie Roma as Leonora and Wm. Pruette as Count de Luna earned new laurels; both were in excellent voice and the effective rendering of their roles sarned for them unstinted marks of appreciation. The minor roles and chorus were also well handled, and the ortheatra, as usual, shared in the general praise. "The Bohemian Girl" follows week of 9, when Payne Clarke will be succeeded by Tom Greene as tenor. Carrie Roma also leaves and her place will be assumed by Fatmah Diard as prima donna.

ECCLID BEACH PARK.—The season will soon close here. Herbert, frog man, and Teed and Haisey, song and dance team, were new in the pavilion last week.

NEW YORK CITY.

Last Week's Events .- So far as the current attractions were concerned there was no change last week in the condition of the local amusement field. The weather was in the main favorable and business remained of quite satisfactory volume. With the advent of the last month of Summer increased activity in the work of preparation for the coming season became visible upon every side. From mountain, lake, seashore and Summer park have come scores of players to this centre of theatrical activity, and rehearsals are now the order of the day. Printers are busy finishing contracts for alluring posters and the zealous press agent is busily engaged in making a display of his ability in the art of word painting. The outlook for the coming season is generally considered to be fairly promising, revealing as it does bountiful re-turns for the farmer and brightening prospects in the industrial field. A long period of enforced idieness has, however, left its burden of debt upon many households throughout the land, and the conservative minority opines that flush times in the show business cannot reasonably be expected until prosperity has reigned for sometime..... "The Whirl of the Town" at the Casino remained during the week ending Aug. 7, the only continued attraction....Variety entertainment was furnished at Tony Paroncia, Koster & Bial's, the Union Square, Parocrois, Olympia, the Central Opera House, the St. Nicholas, the Ice Palace and the Casino Roof Garden.... The steamer Grand Republic continued to make nightly excursions enlivened by a variety entertainment..... The dispute between Sydney Rosenfeld and Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger concerning the ownership of "One Round of Pleasure" was satisfactorily settled out of court last week. It had been proposed to submit the matter to the arbitration of Augustus Thomas and Frank W. Sanger, but when the principals came together to discuss this proposition an agreement was reached between them whereby Mesars. Klaw & Erlanger will continue to control the extravaganza which will be billed with the names of Clay M. Greene and Sydney Rosenfeld as joint authors.....

"Little Casino," a burlesque by Edward Corbett, with music by John A. Raynes, had its first pre-sentation upon any stage at the Casino Roof Gar-DEN, Aug. 2..... A performance of Shakespeare's
"A Midsummer Night's Dream" was given in the amphitheatre of Madison Square Garden, on Aug. 2, in aid of a local charity. E. J. Henley, Fanny McIntyre, Mildred Holland and E. D. Lyons were prominent in the cast.

Huber's Palace Museum.—Prosperity is a fixture at this favored resort, and the bills offered for the weekly diversion of pairons invariably find favor, for the very excellent reason that they are selected to conform to the demands of the large list of Eastsiders who form the regular clientel of the house. Manager Anderson this week, Aug. 9-14, presents a trained horse as the curio feature, with Sig. Peyrani, Isabelle and Louise and others presenting novel acts for consideration. The variety portion of the theatorium double bill presents Fannie Fields, Bartelle and Morris, Mons. Varrie and the Huffords in attractive specialties, and the Lester Franklin Stock Co. give "Michael Strogoff" repeated presentations. The opening crowd evidenced great satisfaction with the bill, and the week will probably be another good one financially. Orner Houses—The following performers are billed to appear this week in the herein mentioned houses: For Palace Music Holl—Florence Emmett, Fenz Bros., Sheridan and Forrest, Dora Claxton Felix, Sheeban and Lacy, Joste Cole, Taylor and Karcher, Larry Tooley, Edwards and Kernell and the McDonough Trio. N. Nicholas Music Hall—Lotta and Delois, Annie Morris, Les Voujeres, Grace Sherwood, Coakley and Heusted, Pearl Andrews, Hyatt and Pearl, and Three Sisters Watson and Zamora. Cusion Roof Garden—Metropolitan Trio, Mabel MacLynn, Lester and Irene, De Como, Herald Quartet, Annie Lloyd, Ward and Brown, Three Gardner Bros., the Clover Trio and the Biondells. Central Opera House—Oceana, Chas. and Lottle Premont, Kellar and Mack, Edwin Favor and Edith Sinclair, Edwin Beneppa.

DANIEL FROIMAN arrived from abroad last week, and will leave at once for Chicago, Ill., to begin rehearsals of the Lyceum stock. Speaking of his plans for the coming season Mr. Frohman said: "After Mr. Sothern's season, with which the Lyceum will open, Mr. Pinero's society comedy, 'The Princess and the Butterfly, 'will usher in my stock company. In t

Olympia Roof Garden.—The bill for week of Aug. 9 was excellent. Signor Zani Quinto, an Italian baritone singer, made his American debut and received much applause. He is possessed of a strong voice, but the tremoto is so pronounced that the effectiveness of his singing is greatly marred. The Four Emperors of music appeared, and, as usual, were favorites. Proto proved herself to be a graceful toe dancer and was well liked. Hacker and Lester, bicyclists and head to head balancers, were holdover favorites. Josie De Wilt, violiniste, continued to win favor by her skillful playing. Harrigan, trampjuggler, was a prime favorite, and the Gehrue Sisters, in their songs and dances, were still popular. The Couture Brothers, acrobatic contortionists, were held over and continued to win loud applause for their clever work. James Thornton, in his monologue, fully deserved the approbation accorded him, and Alburtus and Bartrum, club swingers, were favorites. Madame Vinetic's marbelesques were exhibited for the first time, but failed to create any enthusiasm.

THE OPENING date of the Empire Theatre has been postponed from Aug. 31 to Sept. 3.

KETTH'S UNION SQUARE THEATRE.—The colored gentleman, born that way and in the imitative line, is a reigning factor in the bill of amusement presented for the entertainment of patrons this week, a standing room and overflowing house being in line Monday, Aug. 9, to enjoy the initial performances. Williams and Walker, in an improved act, represent the "dyed in the wool" faction, and Clinford and Huth, Genaro and Bailey and many more introduce "coon" songs, cake walk and darkey patter in great abundance. Billy S. Clinford and Maud Huth, standard favorites here, received their old time welcome and gave their splendid act to rattling applause, and Tom Genaro and Rae Bailey stirred up a hit of the most genuine sort with their extremely weil executed singing, dancing and cake walking specialty. Arthur and Jennie Dunn, Georgia Gardner and Edgar A. Ely, and Lewis and Elliott presented sketches of the latest approved type. John W. World created a furor with his marvelous grotesque dances, and Emma Francis ang and cleverly danced her way into the good graces of her audience with great applause resulting. The Four Westons, in a musical act; Sadie Fox, a clever comedienne: Nellie V. Parker, whose impersonations were well received; Josephine Gassman, a Golden Gate vocalist; the Three Marveiles, clever grotesques; the Everett Trio, acrobats; Jose Linder, another in the field of rag time planop layers, and John H. W. Byrne, with his entertaining monologue act, completed a bill which furnished excellent anusement for those fortunate enough to get within seeing and hearing distance. Proctoric Thearthe.—An interesting bill was presented Aug. 9 for week, and drew good attendance on Monday. Pearl Eviting, assisted by Albert principle monologue act, completed a cill which furnished excellent anusement for those fortunate enough to get within seeing and hearing distance.

Proctor's Theatre.—An interesting bill was presented Aug. 9 for week, and drew good attendance on Monday. Pearl Eyting, assisted by Albert C. Deltwyn, appeared in a one act melodrama by Kenneth Lee, entitled "The Meadowbrook Mystery," and scored a success. Reuben Fax, assisted by Joseph F. Healy and A. J. Lyman, gave a musical comedy sketch, entitled "Old Timepieces," and was well liked. Tony Williams, comedian, gave ample proof of his ability as a laugh maker. Howard and Emerson, with illustrated songs, were well received. McCullough and Montgomery, in a sketch, entitled "Domestic Bliss." were amusing. The Korns, with their dwarf theatre, gave a pleasing performance, and Mile. Rezac won approval for her work on the flying rings. Brooks and Brooks, black face comedians, were appreciated, and the Maqueline Sisters, in songs and dances, soon found themselves favorites. Smith and Reagan, comedians; the Norrises, in a comedy sketch; Eulalia, dancer; Maggie Webb, vocalist, and Lucier and Greves, in a musical comedy, were also on the bill, and tried to win the approbation of the audience. The applicate, which greeted their several efforts, proved that they tried not in vain.

Tony Pastor's Theatre.—After a vacation of several weeks duration Manager Pastor again assumed the role of performer, Monday evening, Aug. 9, and sang a line of new ditties, in preparation for his appearances with his road company, the tour of which opens next week, great applause following, as usual. Other features in the excellent bill are: The Nawns, introducing a different act for their second week; Maude Nugent, continuing in her song repetiory; Edward and Litbie Blondelle, whose juvenile character sketch still hines the brightest of anything in its field; M. S. Whallen, a witty man who shows his merit in bright monologue; the Wood Sisters, pleasing duettists, and Sim Williams and Joe Adams, wh and Ida Morello were applauded vigorously for their neat act.

Koster & Blat/s Roof Garden.—The elements were again kind Aug. 9, and the admirable roof garden weather, combined with an entertaining programme, brought a sufficiently large crowd to fill this aerial resort. Tacianu, male soprano, returned and found himself a prime favorite. His excellent singing won rounds of applausand no one, in his line, ever better deserved the cordial reception accorded ulm. The Three Richards gave a elever acrobatic act which was fully appreciated by the audience. Maud Harvey soon won the hearts of her hearers by her singing. The Lane Sisters, in their acrobatic dances, were prime favorites, and hearty plaudits were bestowed upon them for their terpsichorean efforts. Sato, in his comic juggling, was a popular holdover, his mixed comedy and juggling finding full favor. The Pantzer Brothers, head to head balancers, were continued favorites, their excellent work winning approval. Bertina, contortionist, was well in favor, and be Bessell, clay modeler, held over, and continued to win rounds of applause for his clever work. Johnson and Dean, colored comedians, were deservedly favorites. The Hungarian Band concertized during the intermission and before and after the performance.

"The Girl From Parks" will be revived at the Herald Square Theatre Aug. 28. "The French Maid" will be produced Sept. 27.

NEW YORK STATE.

Brooklyn.—The smoking concerts will be resumed at the Star Theatre, commencing with an afternoon performance, Aug. 16. Manhattan Bacath.—"Very Little Faust" is just as popular as when it was first put on. Sousa and his band will continue to render some choice selections during the current week. Pain's freworks arena is now drawing large crowds of visitors. The water show is the chief feature. The public greatly enjoy the fat policeman, the yellow kid, Ally Sloper, comedians, clowns and other amusing characters. The entertainment given by Messrs. Adams and Woodger is novel, amusing and highly entertaining. BERGEN BEACH.—"The Belie of Greater New York" was withdrawn from the Casino on Saturday evening last, on account of nearly all the performers being obliged to begin work with the companies with which they are engaged for the coming season, but the continuous vaudeville performance will be given at the Casino during the remainder of the season. The bill for the current week includes: Bonnie Lottie, in dances: Nordheim, in a wire act; Tarce Franchonetti Sisters Samard, singers and dancers: Joe Fields, Getman comedian; Mile. Darego, feats on the trapeze: Sisters Barnard, singers and dancers: Smith O'Brien, comedian and character singer: Nellie Seymour, serio comic; Marte De Rosetti, gun manipulator: Murray and Allen, comedy sketch duo: Dolly Theobold, in popular songs. Beside the Casino there are many other amusements at this popular Sunger. New features are being added constantly. This week the expert lady high diver. Mattle Sprague, is one of the novelties. "The Yellow Kld's Excursion to Bergen Beach," Introduces Ally Sloper's Walrus Hunt, which was arranged by Prof. Ben Woodger. Another very interesting and unique feature is the combination dive by Paul Tuston and May Sprague. The Sprague sisters are attracting a great deal of attention by the fearless way in which they hurt themselves into the water from high platforms. The ladies' swimming race, high Buffalo.—At the Star Theatre the Wilbur Opera Co. are this week singing "The Bohemian Girl" and "Olivette." Miss Baker will interpolate Tolstor's "Good Bye." This will be the closing week of a very successful engagement by this company. Primrose & West come Aug. 19-21.

Castso — A Raines' Law Hotel." upon which Frank David and his local counsellors have been laboring so zealously for the past menth, will receive its initiation this week. Tom Farron has the leading role; others in the cast are: Tom Whyte, Jenny Eddy, Walter Taibot, Terry Ferguson and Mason and Healey. It is a reminder of other days to see Mr. Farron back in the harness, and his sweet voice and graceful wit easily made him last week's winner.

After Fine Salling, Toward Sunrise. The yearly cruise of the New York Yacht Club, last week, was unusually interesting to the amateur skippers and their guests, as generally fine winds and favorable weather marked the journey. The run from Eston's Neck, outside of Huntington Harbor, to New London, Cl. Aug. 3, resulted in a surprise for Mr. Postley's Colonia, as her old rival, Emerald, beat her in the race. The old America Cup winner, Vigiliant, also made an excellent small property of the speeding up the Sound. The finishes

The Minnesota-Winnipeg Regatta.

H. C. Duggan's Glencairn II won all of the six races decided on Lake St. Louis, near Montreal, Can., to pick a defender for the Seawanhaka-Corinthian small boat trophy, won last year by Duggan's Glencairn, and now in possession of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, of Montreal. The races were sailed Aug. 3 in an excellent wind, and the performance of the winning craft was sufficiently excellent to warrant her being selected, on Aug. 6, to meet H. M. Crane's Momo in the coming contests.

THE QUEEN'S CUP was won by Britannia on time allowance, Meteor finishing first. The race was sailed Aug. 3, over the old Queen's course, fity miles, under the auspices of the Royal Yacht Squadron. Cariad, Lorna, Cetonia, Corisande and Arethusa also started, but were miles away when the finish was made.

The Town Ctr was sailed for off Cowes, Isle of Wight, Aug. 5, the trophy going to Isolde on time allowance. The contest was little more than a drifting match. Aurora was second, Britannia third, and Meteor, Caress and Aurora in order.

The New Jersey Athletic Club's yachting department held an invitation regatta Saturday afternoon, Aug. 7, on Newark Bay, the start and finish being off the club house on the Bergen Point shore. In the first class Iro-quois won, second class Drift, Third class Chips.

MRS. O. H. P. BELINDY'S cup, offered for cutter crews, was raced for and won Saturday afternoon, Aug. 7, at Newport, R. I., by a crew from U. S. cruiser New York, defeating a crew from the Brooklyn by more than a quarter of a mile.

EDWARD H. TRN EYCK, world's champion amateur oarsman, winner of the Diamond Sculls, at Henley, Eng., recently, met a rousing reception on his return to Worcester, Mass., Aug. 2. The principal business streets had been decorated for the occasion and the speechmaking and other evidences of his welcome were appropriate and worthily bestowed. A feature of the exercises on the Common was the presentation to his father, James A. Ten Eyck, of a purse containing $500, contributed by citizens of Worcester in recognition of his good work. On Aug. 4 the young champion was welcomed to Boston, and after a tour of the places of interest thereabouts, a reception at historic Fancuil Hall wound up the festivities.

The Meteor Challenge Shield was the trophy

THE METEOR CHALLENGE SHIELD was the trophy salied for around the Isle of Wight, Aug. 5, by the fleet of yachts which have spent the last few days' racing off Cowes, Britannia proving the winner of the race and permanent owner of the trophy be-cause of her two consecutive victories in the struggle for its possession.

METROR won the race of the Royal Yacht Squadron's regatta for the $500 prize Aug. 4, off Cowes, Isle of Wight. Aurora was second and Bona third Britannia not starting.

Isie of Wight. Aurora was second and Boha third Britannia not starting.

The American Canoe Association's annual camp at Grindstone Island, River St. Lawrence, near Clayton, N. Y., was opened Aug. 6. The racing and sport, including long cruises among the Thousand Islands, will take up two weeks time.

The National Association of Amateur Oarsmen's annual regatts, on the national course, Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 13, 14, will be the big aquatic event for the coming week. The list of entries is large and the outlook for brilliant work exce lent. The Doggett Coat and Badge was rowed for on the Thames River, at London, Eng., recently. Thomas Bullman won in 38m, 14s., Thos. G. W. Green second, Clas. Cobb third, H. G. Lawrence fourth, J. M. O'Connell fifth, W. G. Thompson sixth.

RACING AT SARATOGA. Attendance and Racing Fair up to the Attendance and Racing Fair up to the Beginning of the Third and Last Week. The second week of the racing carnival at the Spa was inaugurated Monday, Aug. 2, with the fifth day of the Summer meeting of the Saratoga Racing Association, W. S. Vosberg and M. N. Noian acting as stewards for the Jockey Club, W. L. Powers being judge and W. J. Fitzpatrick starter. These officials had supervision over rather smail fields that day, the card being also devoid of stake events or any race of especial interest. The weather conditions were perfect and a goodly crowd was attracted to the course by the promise of an enjoyable afternoon's outing, a prospect which was fulfilled in spite of smail fields and not overly high class entries. The afternoon's winners were The Huguenot, Lord Zenl, Royal Rose, Joe Miller and Bluebeard, a majority of which were selected by the talent to win. We give here the summary:

THEATRICAL.

W. B. T., Everest.—We cannot advise you to place your two children upon the stage. They appear to possess natural musical ability, but that is by no means a rare gift, and we cannot entertain with aught but pity and some indignation the thought of a boy of six years and a girl of four playing upon the cornet. Physical and mental injury would result from forcing them into a professional career. They surely should not be obliged to earn a living for themselves nor for you responsibility. But a should consider well the measure of your responsibility along the publisher, it being your fireur march to some baould consider well the measure of your responsibility. But a programmer, provided it has sufficient merit to warrant such a request. This course, together with an advertisement in This Cliffers, would probably increase your sales. A QUATIC.

8. C. F., Concord.—Certainly; any foreigner has a perfect right to send a centreboard yacht to contend for the possession of the America Cup. Such boats were used in English waters long before they were known here, but were discarded there many years ago.

H. W. C., New Bedford.—Ed. Hanlan became champion of England by deteating William Elliott on the River Tyne, June 16, 1879. The late John Higgin defeated E. W. Boyd for the championship of that country in October, 1877.

ATHLETIC.

E.E. H., Boston.—You will find the records you are in search of on page 89 of The CLIPPER ANNUAL for 1897.
F. N., Boston.—The collar and elbow wrestling match between the late James Owens and H. M. Dufur, for the championship of America and $1,000 took place at Boston, Mass., June 11, 1879, the latter winning. They had previously wrestled to a draw at Worcester, Mass. B. J. D., Babylon.—According to the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union, which govern in this country, the running long jump is measured from the scratch line to the first break of ground by any part of the jumper's person.

D. II., Baltimore — The fastest authenticated record for running one hundred yards is 95s., that time having been accomplished by several rattles, amateurs as well as professionals. Faster time has been made, but not on a level track, which fact bars the time from the record tables.

of the rooms, and we prefer not to take coguizance of them.

G. L. Centreville.—The first race won by P. Lorilard's Parole in England was the Newmarket bandicap, in the Spring of 1879 the horse being then six years .dd. It was Mr. Lorilard's froquois that won the Eps-m Derby, which is a three year old race. The latter horse also won the Doncaster St. Leger Stakes the same year, 1881.

J. A. D., Albany.—The famous trotter, Dexter, was bred by Jonathan Hawkins, of Urange County, N. Y. in April, 1888, and as the age .d four years was sold to George B. Allej for $400. He died at the stable of Robert Bonner, in New York City, April 21, 1888.

S. N., Sarnaac.—A running mate! is a running horse hitched with a trotter or pacer, as the case may be; when a trotter or pacer makes a trial against time, accompanied by a running horse, the runner is not hitched to the polyment of the parameter of the properties o

BILLIARDS, POOL, ETU.

B. S., Conneaut.—That is a question that it is impossible to decide satisfactorily; probably no two persons, amateurs or professionals, ever agreed as to the percentage of odds in a discount at billiards.
Isquirags. San Francisco.—When a ball rests entirely upon the wood of the rail it must be regarded as off the table, and the player cannot score any balls on the stroke; the balls pocketed on such a play must be spotted.

E. G. L., Detroit.—The player at pyramid pool, who pockets the white ball on a stroke, must return to the table all balls made on such play, and also forfest a ball from his rack or score.

I. R. D., Buffalo...—The fight between Jim Corbett and Peter Jackson took place at San Francisco, Cal., and lasted through sixty one rounds, in many of which little asted through sixty one rounds, in many of which little Referes Cook, as a summar of that was the control of deciding it a draw, which latter decision would have enabled the principals to justly demand an equal division of the purse between them.

F. J. B. Fhiladelphia.—The ring in which Corbett and Suilivan fought in New Orleans, La., was of the usual size, 2ift, square. The Queensberry rules say that the ring must be as near that size as practicable; the refighting, say it must be exactly that size.

D. G., Belleville.—Charley Mitchell is a native of Birmingham, Eng., both his parents, we believe, having been born in Ireland. The late Jack Dempsey was born in the County Kildare, Ireland, Dec. 16, 1862

J. A. II., New York.—The first fight between Frank S. Craig and Bill Dunn, on Jan. 4, 1892, lasted three rounds, Dunn winning. They lought two draws, of six and eight rounds respectively, April 9 and April 30, same year.

Craedon.

H. E. Gleveland.—John L. Suilivan became champion of the world, under the old ring rules, when he defeated Jake Kilrain, in July, 1898. His challenge, which led to the making of that match, was open to all pugillsts, of whatever country.

MISCELLANEOUS.

CAMERON, Saco.—The word frappe is derived from the French verb frapper, to strike. The word as applied to drinks means to subject them to chilling by immersing the bottle in ice, or freezing mixture, causing the liquid to partly congeal.

FRED DAY, once a popular jockey, but of late years destitute and forgotten, was picked up insensible on the beach at Oney Island, L. I., Aug. 3, and taken to a hospital where he afterwards died. He piloted Chas to victory in the Futurity of 1889, and rode several other notable races. About two weeks after his sensational ride in the Futurity, he had a mount at Jerome Park. At one of the turns, the horse crossed his legs and Day was picked forward on his head. He was picked up unconscious and found to be suffering from concussion of the brain. He underwent a trepanning operation and partially recovered after a long illness. His brain, however, was affected to a great extent, and though he rode in a few races afterwards, his career as a jockey, which was his means of livelihood, was practically closed.

FAIRS FOR 1897.

Following our annual custom, we present a list of fairs for the coming Fall. The clashing of dates, the frequent changes and practical impossibility of collecting all the material combine to make a list of this kind only approximately correct; nevertheless, those fairs we record here, made up from the official fair lists, etc., will be found useful to many classes of showmen who have not yet arranged their routes for the season of 1897-8. The letters preceding dates stand for the months, as A. for August, S. for September, etc. When no initial latter precedes the date, it signifies that the month letter precedes the date, it signifies that the month is that last indicated. Louisville vs. Cleveland.

The Clevelands had an apparently easy time in defeating the Louisvilles on Aug. 3, at Louisville, Ky., in a contest that was limited to eight innings on account of darkness. Magee was very erratic in on account of darkness. Magee was very errate in his delivery, giving nine men their bases on balls and making two wild pitches, which aided the visitors in getting runs. After forcing in three runs on bases on balls and being batted for five more runs in the eighth inning, Magee was replaced by Miller, who was almost as ineffective. The long safe hits were triple baggers by Zimmer and Young, and a two baser by Cooke.

EUGENE DE MONTREVILLE is one of the few young-sters who came to the front rank of his adopted pro-lession in a bound as it were. Only two seasons in a minor league, and then he looms up in the major a minor league, and then he looms up in the major his release being purchased by the Washington management from the Toronto Club, and he has since remained with the former's team. Buring fession in a bound as it were. Only two seasons in a minor league, and then he looms up in the major league ranks, where he has since held his own as league ranks, where he has since held his own as one of the sensational infielders and heavy batamen of the fastest company known to the national game. He firmly believes in himself, and that, no doubt, has enabled him to succeed as well as he does. He was born March 26, 1574, at St. Paul, Minn., but learned to play ball at Washington, D. C. His first professional engagement was with the Albany (N. Y.) Club, in 1894. In 1895 he was engaged by the Toronto Club, of the Eastern League, and under Manager John C. Chapman's careful tutorage he came to the front at a rapid pace. During that season he participated in one hundred and twelve championship games, and ranked high as a batsman, with a percentage of .315. He was credited with making three home runs, ten triple baggers and fifteen two base hits. Four times he made four safe hits to a game, and eleven times he had three safe hits to a game, and eleven times he had three safe hits to a game, the best fielding performance in any one game was the accepting all except one of thirteen chances at short field, four times he accepted eleven chances and thirteen times six chances to a game. The Eastern League season ended on Sept. 15, that year, and, on Sept. 17, he appeared at short on the Washington team, in a game with the Brooklyns, at Washington, D. C. While he participated in a dozen or more championship games with the Washingtons at the close of that season, he did not take part in enough to one of the sensational infielders and heavy batamen management from the Toronto Club, and he has since remained with the former's team. Buring the season of 1896 he participated in one hundred and thirty championship contests, ranking thirteenth as a bataman in the official averages of the major league with a percentage of .355. On four different occasions he was credited with making four safe hits to a game. In one on June 12, at Washington, against St. Louis, he made four safe hits, including a home run and a triple bagger. In each of twelve other games he made three safe hits, and during the season he made seven home runs, six triple baggers and twenty-one two base hits. His best fielding feats last year were twice accepting all of twelve chances to a game, once all except two of fourteen chances, to time should be seven chances, and twenty seven times six chances. He has been doing some good work thus far this season, both at the bat and in the field. Twice he has made a safe hit each of the five times he has been at the bat, and twice he has been credited with four safe hits to a game, and nine times three safe hits. His best fielding performance in any one game washe accepting all except one of fourteen chances ashort in a game June 10, at Cleveland, O. Once all except one of twelve chances. Three times he has secreted ten chances, seven times nine chances, nine times eight chances, thirteen times seven chances, and fourteen times seven chances, and fourteen times is chances to a game, which is a very creditable showing.

Superior batting helped the Louisvilles to reverse the above result on Aug. 8. Frazer was in fine form and had the locals guessing all through the contest, they making only seven safe hits, from which they scored two runs. Clarke and Dexter led in batting, while the long safe hits were triple baggers by Werden, Dexter and Cingman and doubles by Stafford and Peltz. The batting of Clarke and Dexter and Corcoran's fielding were features.

The Brooklyns administered a sound drubbing to the Baltimores on Aug. 9, at Brooklyn, N. Y. The former developed a batting streak in the third inning and scored ten runs before the last man was put out. Hoston vs. New York.

The New Yorks defeated the Bostons with apparent ease on Aug. 9, at Boston, Mass. The visitors simply outclassed the leaders of the pennant race, despite the errors the score shows. The misplays were all the result of overzeal on the part of the Gothamites, and three of the Bostons' runs were accumulated by the rarest of baseball luck, in which Nichols figured conspicuously, by hitting the ball over short left field fence for a home run when two men were on bases. Meekin pitched good ball, even though the score does not show it, he being very effective at critical times. The batting and fielding of Davis and Gleason were features. The other long safe hits were a triple by Davis and a double by Stivetts.

John M. Gilroy, a professional player, died on Aug. 4, at St. Vincent's Hospital, Norfolk. Va., where he was operated on for appendicties early in June. He was about twenty-eight years old, and lived at Washington, D. C., where he gained considerable renown as an amateur player. On Aug. 30, 1990, Manager Schmeiz, then of the Washingtons, engaged three local amateurs, but Gilroy, who pitched against the St. Louis team in the second of the two games played on the afternoon of Aug. 30, was the only one of the trio who did good work. He participated in all or part of ten games with the Washingtons that season with varied success. He was reserved by the Washington Glub for the season of 1896, but during the latter part of April, 1896, he was allowed to go to the Norfolk Club, of the Virginia State League, making his first appearance with the latter's team as right fielder on April 30, at Richmond, Va. He pitched his first game for the Norfolks against the Petersburgs, May 6, at Norfolk the home team winning by 11 to 4. He participated in fifty championship games last year with the Norfolks, and ranked ninth as a batsman in the official averages of that league with a percentage of .333. He was reserved for this season by the Norfolk Club, which transferred its membership to the Atlantic League, and participated in eighteen championship contests, six of which he pitched, winning all of them. On May 6, last, at Richmond, he allowed the home team only four safe hits. It ten games he played right field, and in two others he filled the short stop's position. While the team was playing at Lancaster during the first week of June, Gliroy returned to Norfolk, suffering from some inward trouble. He went to St. Vincent's Hospital and was operated on for appendicitis. It was afterward stated that he had no such disease, but it was his kidneys that were affected. After hovering between life and death for about two months he died on Aug. 4. The funeral services were held day.

Charles Carl, a professional pitcher, died of consumption on July 30, in the City Hospital at San Antonio, Tex. in 1895 he participated in forty championship games with the New Orleans team, of the Southern League, and ranked first as a pitcher in the official averages of that league. He was re-engaged by the New Orleans Club for the season of 1896, and participated in thirty-two championship games last year. He was one of the first pitchers signed by the Galveston Club, of the Texas League, for this year, but his health failed him before the regular season began. He practiced in a few games, and was then sent out in the west of Texas to recuperate. He went to San Antonio about three weeks ago, seeking relief from the deadly disease, but was then very far gone, and he wasted away from day to day, until death, on July 30, relieved him from further suffering on this earth.

James J. Corbett, ex champion pugilist, is to play first base in a number of games through the Western Association circuit during the latter part of this month, for a percentage of the receipts of each club. He starts at Burlington, Is., Aug. 17. The ball players in general are wishing Corbett success in his new field on account of the liberal manner in which he always responded in cases of benefits to all ball players.

Mark Baldwin, the ex-professional pitcher, on Aug. 2, at Pittsburg, Pa., entered suit for $1,000 against W. A. Nimick. The action grows out of the damage suit of Baldwin against President Von der Ahe, of the St. Louis Club, for false arrest, in which he got averdict for $2,502. Baldwin issued a caplas for Yon der Ahe in the sum of $1,000 on the caplas process of the amount of the verification of the sum of $1,000 on the caplas process of the first health of the sum of $1,000 on the caplas process of the players of the judgment, and Nimick is responsible for $1,000 which Baldwin's counsel holds should be paid on the judgment. W. A. Nimick was some years ago president of the Pittsburg Club.

T. J. Lynch, of the official staff of major league umpires, officiated as umpire in a game of ball between two local teams on July $1, at New Britain, Ct., and at the close of the eighth inning was presented by Major Vance, on behalf of the citizens, with a handsome diamond stud and an elegant morocco bound testimonial. New Britain is Lynch's home, he having gone there some little time prior to this event on account of indisposition.

John L. Sullivan, ex-champion puglilst, was the starfesture at the game between the West New York and the surface and the sum of the starfesture at the game between the West New York and the close of the supplies of the captal and the surface at the same between the West New York and the captal and the surface at the same between the West New York and the captal and the surface at the same between the West New York and the John L. Sullivan, ex-champion puglilist, was the star feature at the game between the West New York and Ironside teams, on Aug. 8, at the Weelawken (N. J.) grounds. He umpired the game in a satisfactory manner. The Ironsides won by 7 to 2.

W. H. (Dad) Clark, of the New Yorks, and a monetary consideration, have been given the Louisville Club in exchange for Thomas McCreery, its clever right fielder. I'mpire Hurst, who was arrested last week at St. Louis, Mo., on a charge of assault with intent to kill for hitting a spectator with a beer glass recently at Cincinnati, O., was taken before Judge David C. Murphy, of St. Louis, Aug. 7, on habeas corous proceedings and discharged. Judge Murphy said, after looking over the papers: "Why this shows that there was absolutely no warrant for the arrest, and he is illegally held. I'll discharge the defendant of I will fine any man that rearrests him."

The Meriden Club has a commanding lead in the Con-fendant and I will fine any man that re arrests him. The Meriden Club has a commanding lead in the Con-necticut State League race, and, unless some unforseen nisfortune overtakes its team, the pennant will cer-tainly float from the flag staff Manager Chapman will se-lect and place in a prominent position for the occasion. The Connecticut State League has certainly come to stay. Its teams are playing just as last ball as any minor league is the country.

FAIR AND INDUS

CHESTER, PA., WEEK COMMENCING MONDAY, SEPT. 13.

We want everything of rare and extraordinary merit; in fact, anything that will prove a novelty for day object. High Wire and Aerial Acts, Charlot Races, Balloon Ascensions, Trained Animals, Living turiosities, Freaks of Sature, Irish Village, "Streets of Cairo," European and Asiatic Novelties and Men, Women or Children that can play rare and curious instruments. We want to hear from any one that has anything to show or sell. The Pair Grounds are located so as to draw from four cities—Philadelphia, Camden, Chester and Wilmington—so, you see, within a radius of 15 miles we have 3.000,000 people to draw from. The facilities for getting to the Fair are excellent. The Pennsylvania and Reading R. R. runs right in the grounds; also the terminus of the Philadelphia and Philadelphia and Wilmington, and all the So, Jersey steamboats stop at our wharf, directly opposite the entrance to the Fair Grounds. This Fair and Exposition will be run in a manner that you can make money. We will make fair and equitable terms for all space and privileges. We also want to hire a number of tents of various sizes. Address all communications to HARGERAVS & PASSMAN. Care Grand Opera House, Chester, Pa., who have charge of all Amusements and Privileges.

NEW DEPARTURE IN ILLUSTRATED SONGS. "LOST SHIP" WALTZ SONG,

By FRANK A. BUSH, Belleville, Kansas, bas just been illustrated for the coming season by the well known lantern slide artist. PROFESSOR SHIELDS, 144 West 4th St., New York. This new set of views will be the hit of the coming season. In panoramic form 1,000 miles pass before the eyes of the audience, from where the huge ocean steamer leaves port to its total wreck in mildocean. The steamer is seen to roll and toss at the mercy of the waves in motion. The thunder storm, with sheet and forked lightning, being portrayed with vivid realism. The ship catches fire, flames and smoke arrise, and she finally goes down beneath the waves. These magnificent thrilling scenes are not photographs, but are painted by the artist treeband on plain glass, each glass measuring 24 inches by 34 inches williar to the expensive work imported from London and Paris, which high class work is not done elsewhere in this country. Singers, you are not up to date with your dissolving photographs, so write at once and secure a set of the new panoramic paintings with effects for your lantern to Professor Sheida, 144 West 4th St., New York. (Write FRANK A. BUSH, Belleville, Kan., for professional copy of "Lost Ship Waltz Song.")

NEW IDEAS IN SONG.

THE KIND THE PEOPLE WHISTLE.

"TEACH OUR BABY THATI'M DEAD." Wm. H. Windom's latest hit. A strong story of a convict's farewell to his faithful wife and their little baby. "MY SOUTH CA'LINA FLO." Barney Fagan's latest and best. A genuine darkey song, in this famious writer's happiest vein. "A TALE OF A WINTER'S NIGHT." By Will E Nankeville. A song of a negligent father, patient wife and beleadings of their little one for him to come home. "THE CHOIR BOY." By Paul B. Armstrong. A pathetic song "that makes the treas unblidden flow." ABSOLUTELY NEW IDEAS IN SONG.

And pronounced by leading singers the best of the year and sure winners. The following are making hits with ongs: Wm. H. Windom, Banks Winter, Miss Winfred Stewart, F. X. T. Owens, John Early, Edw. H. Des withur Desgon, Miss Cora Williams, Little Jeo O'llare and hosts of others. These are some of the songs that made us friends in the profession. My Bank's Kiss, Two Little Hue Little Shoes, Only a Tear Nained Messweet Little Phyllis Moran; Oh, Come to Me, Elleen; Remember I'm Your Erother and Your Friend, etc. Oh, Come to Me, Elleen; Remember I'm Your Brother and McKINLEY MUSIC CO.

Here are just a few for knockers to peruse from the Chicago press:

At the Olympic this week the clever sketch in which WILLS AND LORETTO appear brought out such applaus on Monday afternoon, when they made their initial appearance, that the management immediately installed their as the main feature of the show. Their bit has been most two ronounced—CHICAGO EXCORD, Aug. 5.

This week at the Olympic the biggest hit of the show is made by WILLS AND LORETTO, who present a smusing one act consety, in which Mr. Wills assumes the character of a trano and Miss Loretto appears as Spanish dancer. The piece is entirely original in plot, while the humorous features with which it abounds at also original and up to date as well. They second a decided hit Monday afternoon, and their popularity has been increasing at every performance this week.—DALLY NEWS, Aug.
